

Greetings!

Welcome to the October newsletter. Last month was a whirlwind, and we're grateful for the energy and insights shared within our community. As always, our goal is to keep you updated on what matters most in the world of foregut disease.

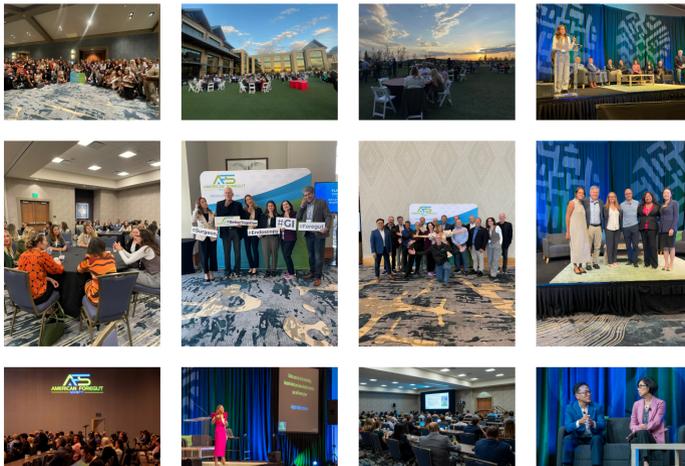

The Annual Meeting last week was a fantastic chance to connect and dive deep into the latest research and techniques. With over 600 attendees this year, it was great to see so many of you there, engaging in meaningful discussions and practical workshops. Whether you presented, participated, or just listened in, your contributions made it a valuable experience as we continue to grow. We'll be following up with key takeaways and resources for those who couldn't make it—or want a quick recap.
